

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and device for placing orders over a network using bioauthentication account authorization for an account having different users and access levels.